NEW PRESIDENT CHALLENGES ALUMNI FOR THE 80's

Alumni Association President Wayne Cropp '74 responds to an interview with Executive Alumni Secretary Rebecca Peck '40.

What attracted you to Bryan College as a student?

Initially I came to Bryan at the request of my parents. We had looked into a number of schools in the Georgia and Tennessee area, but my parents were attracted to Bryan because of the spiritual atmosphere of the school and its Christian emphasis. After I came here and had attended for some period of time and even gone back to a junior college for a year, I became interested in returning to Bryan on my own initiative. I was attracted by the friendliness of the students and faculty and came to know and love people who definitely exhibited Christ in their lives. I liked what I saw and I wanted to live in an atmosphere where I could have that quality around me.

How did Bryan prepare you for your work at graduate school to study law?

One of the things I truly appreciate about Bryan is the fact that it is a Christian liberal arts college with a broad educational base. I am a graduate of the business administration program. I believe my business background prepared me well for the study of law. Business is one of the best preparations for law school. When I was in graduate school, I was able to observe by comparing myself to others that I had obtained a solid scholastic background. At Bryan I was with other students who gave me keen academic competition, the type it takes to be able to exist in law school today.

Why did you come to Chattanooga to practice law?

It was a joint decision that my wife and I made. We are both from central Florida originally, but we wanted to live in an area where we would be able to see a change of seasons and take advantage of the natural beauty through such activities as hiking. We enjoyed Alabama when we lived there and it was rather natural for us to pick an area within the region. Chattanooga appealed to us because we were familiar with it through our association with Bryan and also because it was the place where I found a professional position that matched my desires. I was quite fortunate to find the position and I believe that good fortune was God's mercy, because we do love this area. We feel that God really led us to Chattanooga.

What is your legal responsibility in connection with your present position in Chattanooga?

I am the executive director of the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Air Pollution Control Bureau. I began in the program as a staff attorney, a position which I held for approximately two years. Then I was appointed director of the program. I am supervisor and manager of our bureau and am active in our legal area as time permits. Basically my responsibilities now go beyond my legal training. One of the reasons that my legal background is so valuable in my current administrative position is that my responsibilities require that I have an understanding and knowledge of federal legislation, particularly the Clean Air Act.

Do you foresee any change in your legal pursuits in the future?

Yes, I do. Working for the government carries with it alternately a number of rewards and frustrations. I do not believe that I will find that my current position is my ultimate career goal, although I am pleased with my position for now. However, in the future I do expect to practice law in the private sector with some emphasis on corporate and environmental law.

Tell us a little more about your family.

My wife, Diane, and I grew up in Orlando, but we did not know one another until my sophomore year in college. We first met at a Bible study and found out that we attended the same church. Diane had just recently become a member. She is a graduate of the home economics education program at Auburn University. We were married in 1974 after I graduated from college, and we had our first child, Rachel Diane, in 1980.

What other family members are associated with Bryan?

All four children in my family attended Bryan. My sister Connie graduated in 1975 and married a Bryan graduate, Doug Mains. My brother Jim attended for two years and then went on to the University of South Florida. Currently he is at Trinity Seminary, working on a master's in church history and planning to go on for his Ph.D. so he might be able to teach history in a university. Jim also married a Bryan graduate, Kathy Ballard. My sister Linda attended Bryan for two years and is soon to be married.

What are your church and civic associations in Chattanooga?

We are members of the First Presbyterian Church in Chattanooga. I am on the board of directors of the Orange Grove Center (for mentally handicapped) and a vice president of the Chattanooga Jaycees, on several Chamber of Commerce committees including the environmental improvement committee and the state affairs committee; I participate in the Big-Brother program; I am a member of the American, Tennessee, and Hamilton County Bar associations, a member of the Natural Resources Subcommittee of the Bar Association, a member of the Air Pollution Control Association, and also I am co-chairman of the Clean Air Act Committee of the Association of Local Air Pollution Control Officials. I was recently selected to be recognized among the Outstanding Young Men of America for 1981.

What associations have you had in Chattanooga that tie in with your interests in Bryan?

I have been involved with the Chattanooga-Dayton chapter of the Bryan Alumni Association which meets every other month, and I have been fairly active as president during this past year. This has kept me up to date on what has been happening at Bryan. Currently I am a member of the Chattanooga Capital Campaign committee for Bryan College.

In leading the alumni association as president, how do you think other alumni can help Bryan through their various personal contacts?

Obviously Bryan has a wide circle of friends, using that term broadly to include even the Bryan family of alumni and current students. Alumni can best be used in the areas of recruitment of talent for staff and faculty, providing financial support, and securing student prospects. Since Bryan is interested in maintaining a high academic standard, it is very important that faculty members and staff personnel have top credentials, are able to show a real interest in the students, and have a good testimony for the Lord.

What are your ideas on getting alumni more involved?

My ideas on involvement rest on some basic principles—first of all, the leadership of the school and of the alumni association have to be enthusiastic about the things that they do about getting people involved in the school and maintaining that involvement. The Alumni Association also has to provide some tangible services to the alumni to keep them interested in what may be happening around the college. This could include such services as information on job placement and on assisting former students in keeping up with friends whom they have not heard from for some time. It is not so much my idea; but the things that are being planned now on the capital campaign will, I believe, have the positive effect of keeping people involved.

What can the Alumni Office do to improve service to alumni?

The Alumni Office really has to be the spark plug or the motivating factor behind maintaining an interest among alumni of Bryan College. It has the responsibility of encouraging alumni to associate with one another and to be proud of Bryan College. One of the ways is through forming new chapters and encouraging the growth of existing chapters of the association. The idea has also been discussed of having representatives from different periods or classes of Bryan to represent those classes for the association. I think this is something that we will probably look into in more detail as time progresses. Right now most of our energy is being expended in the area of capital campaign and making sure it is on good footing. I personally am very involved in the Hamilton and Rhea county campaigns.

What challenge would you like to give Bryan alumni for the decade of the 80's?

We have set before ourselves some rather ambitious financial goals which are intended to improve the physical status of the college and its academic programs. These dollars are vitally needed, but even more than that is the purpose behind the raising of those dollars. That purpose is to continue to maintain a school which teaches the basic doctrines of our sacred Scripture and trains young minds for service to our Lord in their chosen careers. Our challenge is to, first of all, make sure that Bryan maintains its historical identity and purpose and further to enable as many future students as possible to obtain the same dedicated principles and training that we received. I know from talking with former students that many of us hold fond memories of our college experience at Bryan. We wholeheartedly support the school's current direction of controlled expansion. We do this with the firm conviction that our Lord would have us to do so. Indeed, we are counting on your support for the 1980's.

MISSIONS CONFERENCE INCLUDES 20 ALUMNI

Twenty Bryan alumni were among the more than eighty missionary representatives from fifty missions that participated in Bryan's January 7-9 missions conference. In addition to the presentations of these missionaries by displays and seminars, challenging messages were shared with the students by Dr. Cameron Townsend, founder of Wycliffe Bible Translators; Dr. Don Hillis, honorary representative of TEAM; and Albert Classen, professor of missions, Moody Bible Institute.

Bob and JOY (LESLIE) '56 BOSTROM enjoy their rural home in Dickerson, Maryland. Their garden produced well to fill the freezer. Joy continues horseback riding as a hobby and went on two 25-mile competitive trail rides and one 50-mile ride plus shorter practice rides last summer. Bob has taken on running as a year-round routine and earned several medals. Their older son, Mark, is employed with an engineering firm; Danny is out on his first six-month tour in a Navy nuclear submarine; Debbi entered a 25-mile trail ride by horseback and at her high school was an Indian princess in the homecoming parade, excels on the swim team, and plays flute in the band. Timmy made a good showing with his football team, plays sax, and at 13 is the owner of a Yamaha dirt bike.

JIM x'56 and Barbara PITTS plan for another three-month summer furlough from Children's Haven in Morocco. They now have 49 children including the new baby who came in 1980. At Christmas with alumni and other visitors plus their own family, they had over 80 for meals.

WILBUR '56 and Ida Lou PICKERING continue at the Wycliffe headquarters in Brazil at Brasilia. Wilbur is encouraged to have Brazilians involved in Wycliffe work. The relationship with the Brazilian government seems to be improving to clear the way for continuation of the work with tribal people. They expected to have about 50 linguistic students in their two-month missionary training program which includes missionaries from five other missions besides Wycliffe. Ida Lou works in the office as well as cares for the family including their daughters, Candace and Karis.

AL LACY x'56 is an evangelist who makes his home in Littleton, Colorado, and takes with him his friend, Clyde Hyde, who adds interest through the channel of ventriloquy.

LORA LEE (CLINGAN) SPURLOCK '57 planned to return to the States in January this year. She has continued helping in Zaire since Jack's death in July by arranging flights for their area for about 20 hours a month as compared to 100 hours a month when Jack was flying. She trusts the Lord to answer the questions and plans for the future.

LARRY '57 and SHIRLEY (ARDELEAN) '56 FEHL have been privileged to share in the development of two seminaries in Nigeria. They began on the staff at Igbaja Seminary in 1962 (missing only the first graduating class) and continued until 1978. After two years in administrative work in Jos, Nigeria, they began this year to teach in a new seminary being developed to serve a larger number of students and an area different from Igbaja. They had 25 students enroll for classes which meet in temporary quarters. In November the first new building was almost complete. Two of the Fehl daughters are students at Bryan—Jan and Wendy—and Cindy, the youngest, is with her parents in Jos.

The three younger children are busy in school and church activities at home.

Ted and SHIRLEY (SMILEY) '57 KLINGSMITH are serving in their 15th year at the Denver Christian Servicemen's Center. They enjoy frequent reunions with "alumni" of the Center when they come on visits, often bringing their families. The five Klingsmith children are beginning to scatter—Scott joined the staff of InterVarsity Christian Fellowship following a June wedding; Barbara graduated in pre-med studies at Biola in December; and Gayleen is a sophomore at Biola, taking one semester of study in Europe. Still at home are Janell, a junior, who is pianist, soccer star, and Sunday school teacher, and Debbie, a freshman in high school.

RACHAEL O'MERA '58 spent two months between mid-August and mid-October in Wisconsin with her father and other family members. Bible study sessions were renewed in her Ninilchuk, Alaska, home in November.

Vern and LOIS (RADER) x'59 STILES live in Kirkwood, Missouri, with their family of 13 children. Vern works at the Douglas McDonald Aircraft Company and has been doing test flights on the new F-18 planes. Their oldest daughter, Karen, finished her student teaching at Whiteman Air Force Base near Kansas City and is a certified teacher. Kim is a senior at Fontbonne and twin sister, Kathy, is a senior at Central Missouri State, where Kristy is a sophomore. Their thirteenth child, Kent David, was born in May to bring the family register to five girls and eight boys.

Gary and ALICE (TOBELMANN) '59 FREDRICKS with their two sons, Scott and Mark, continue to enjoy living in Texas while Gary attends Dallas Seminary. They have had meaningful contacts with several international students—one Muslim has met weekly for two years with Gary; a Nigerian doctoral student accepted Christ when brought to a Bible study by a new Filipino Christian; a Chinese grad student and a couple from Belgium studying comparative law are also sharing Bible studies.

GERALD '59 and AMY (WILSON) x'59 SMITH have located in Langhorne, Pennsylvania, with Worldwide European Fellowship. Jerry is administrator of educational ministries, seeking to bring a cohesiveness in the training of WEF missionaries while they are on the field.

DAVID HEYDENBURK, organ and piano teacher at Bryan from 1952 to 1956, is now retired at the Alliance Home in Carlisle, Pennsylvania. BOB CONRAD '59, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., frequently visits him.

HOWARD SPANOGLE x'59 was the winner of the 1980 Gold Key award by the Illinois Association of Teachers of Journalism during the 60th convention of the Illinois State High School Press Association held at the University of Illinois. He has been adviser to the student newspaper, "Echo," at Glenbard East High School for the past 14 years. He and his wife, JUANITA (LONG) x'60, are both teachers who make their home in Wheaton, Illinois.

NAOMI GLOCK x'61 went from Surinam to Aruba to present a paper at the biennial conference of the Society of Caribbean Linguistics. Her paper entitled "Extending the Use of Saramaccan in Surinam" was favorably received when she gave it at a convention at Aruba's Sheraton Hotel and where she patiently listened to 39 other papers. Naomi gave two weeks of training to instructors in the teaching of reading their own Saramaccan language. Five men learned about literacy and the use of primers and teachers' manuals; they prepared a primer for non-literates; and they wrote and prepared five booklets on various subjects so they could prepare other reading materials.

Garner (former faculty) and MYNA '64 HOYT have reinforced the staff of the Radio School of the Bible in Marseilles, France, with the North Africa Mission.

RON '64 and DIANE (PECK) x'64 MORREN continue as members of Wycliffe in Guatemala, but Ron has been employed by the government of Guatemala to be a technical adviser to assist the Guatemalan government to develop curriculum materials and to train teachers to teach Indian children in their own languages, thus aiding Wycliffe workers in their literacy task.

CATHERINE (LEE) '68 and Daniel FUNG live in Manhattan, Kansas, where Daniel is a science professor at the University. Cathy directs a counselling service. Their son, Francis, is 6 years old.

DAN x'63 and SHELBY (SKINNER) '61 HARRISON continue their work with Wycliffe from their location in Duncanville, Texas, remembering their 16 years of association. Paula, 16, was a newborn when they joined Wycliffe, and the younger three daughters—Melody, 14; Tonya, 12; and Holly, 7—were all born in Papua, New Guinea.

DAVID BARTON '66 founded the Temple Baptist Church in Herndon, Virginia, in October 1975. A new church building is under construction and is soon to be occupied.

MARGE SCHOLZ '68 returned to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, on August 30, to resume Sudan Interior Mission office responsibilities after a summer furlough. She also has two new jobs—selling goods from the mission store to missionaries and literature distribution.

LINDA (KAECHLE) '68 and her husband, E. L. Adams have lived in Summerfield, North Carolina, for two years. They have two children—Joleen, 11, and Clinton, 8.

KEN '68 and ALICE (COLVIN) '69 HURLEY arrived in Brasilia, Brazil, on August 7 and visited with DAN x'65 and LOUISE (GRAHAM) '68 SHEYDA. They went on to Cuiaba on August 9 to find a furnished house waiting for them. Alice teaches health and science in grade 5 and art for grades 3-9. Ken teaches Bible and world geography in high school and math, social studies and physical education for high school plus some elementary. They have 29 enrolled in their mission school, sponsored by Wycliffe Bible Translators.

Chuck and SALLY (CARLSON) '69 KELLER helped to conduct the first Summer Institute of Linguistics in France with about 30 students last summer. Chuck continues his Cambodian translation work with two helpers. The Kellers anticipate a July furlough after their children complete school, so they can visit family and friends especially in Minnesota.

JIM RIGBY '69 continues his profession as C.P.A. with two partners in R.R. & W. Certified Public Accountants in California. He also travels in his position as president of Financial Executives of Christian Organizations to prepare for their 4th annual Christian Management Institute. His wife, Susan, shares duties in the office and they are co-presidents of the P.T.O. in the school attended by their 11-year-old daughter, Maryanne. All three are active in church and are grateful for a new house in Brea, Calif.

DOUGLAS '71 and RITA (HOSKOVEC) '71 McKay are residing in Wilmington, Delaware, with their two children, Benjamin Garrett, 6, and Jason Andrew, 2. Doug is a sales representative with a Hanover, Pa., company but is interested in the field of engineering with solar power.

QUANG AN (ROBERT) HUYNH x'71 lives in Charlotte, N.C., where he is employed as a nuclear engineer with Duke Power Co. With his mother who lives now in New York, he visited his Vietnamese friends, GRACE (WONG) x'72 and DAO LE '71 in San Francisco, Cal. He also saw SARIANNE '73 and PETER '74 TRINH in Dallas, Texas. These alumni came from the Chinese Christian community in Saigon, Vietnam.

Des and LYNN (STEVENS) '71 HARPER continue with Operation Mobilization on the LOGOS as they make harbor stops at Bangkok, East Malaysia, and Singapore. A new crew of 60 joined the staff in October. Also two small boatloads of Vietnamese refugees totaling 93 were rescued from the South China Sea and given place on the ship. With special guarantee from England for their resettlement, the refugees were allowed to go to Thailand for processing.

MARK '72 and NANCY (BIRCH) '70 LONG-NECKER live with their four daughters in Chattanooga, Tenn., where Mark is comptroller with Southern Champion Tray Co. He is also treasurer of their church and its Christian day school.

BERTHA (COMBS) x'72 and David McKAY reside in Manchester, Ohio, where Bertha was completing her B.A. degree last summer. The McKay's have a four-year-old daughter, Rebecca, and Rachel Leigh, born last fall.

JACK '71 and ESTHER (OCKERS) x'72 LILLEY moved to Maracay, Venezuela, last fall, so that Jack could teach Greek and New Testament at the Seminario Evangelico Asociado. Esther helps in the seminary bookstore and both are involved in a Spanish church ministry. Their children are John Mark, 6, Jennifer Ruth, 5, and Jessica Sara, born last July.
